

Training, by itself, does not work!

It has been proven time and time again that a “one time” training approach does not last. The first problem is that only some of the information transmitted actually “sticks”.

Spaghetti not sticking !

The second problem is that any knowledge that does enter your brain, will immediately start leaking out - like a leaky bucket.

Note - experts say the “half-life” of knowledge is a few weeks and possibly even a few days.
